HOME RULE LEAGUE PROBLEM UP SOON

Supreme Court Orders It Placed on Calendar for Next Sitting.

On motion of District Attorney Harry Southworth of Dane county, the state supreme court has agreed to appear in the case of the state of Wisconsin against Charles E. Pierce of this city, president of the Wisconsin Home Rule and Taxpayers' league, placed on the calendar for argument at the next sitting of the court, which will be in about three weeks. The case against Pierce grew out of the failure of the executive of the Home Rule and Taxpayers' league to file statements of expenses incurred, in connection with the campaign of the league to elect low tax members to the legislature. It was alleged that the officers of the league should have filed such statements in the office of the secretary of state. The matter was investigated by a Dane county grand jury and Pierce was indicted. When the case came before the Dane county municipal court, Judge Fehlandt granted a motion to quash the indictment. The state appealed to the supreme court.

ENRICH THE BLOOD
Hood's Sarsaparilla, a Spring Tonic

Everybody is troubled at this season with loss of vitality, failure of

WEATHER FORECAST.

Generally fair on high and Thursday, warm or Thursday and northwest portion tonight.

THE MYSTIC SEVEN.

Perhaps no number in the many numerals as many mystical interpretations as the number seven. Years ago when they published readers for the schools that were the old-fashioned, genuine readers, we read Wordsworth's beautiful poem, "We Are Seven." The Germans have a saying, "All good things end in three." But seven has come to be the accepted synonym for good luck in more ways than one. Just stop and think that the colors of the rainbow are seven. The months of the year are seven. The notes of the musical scale are seven (the eighth one being the same as the first). There were said to be seven sages of Greece, and seven kings of Rome, and the city of Rome was built on seven hills. London city has seven hills also; Cornhill, Snow Hill, Ludgate Hill, Fish Street Hill, Bread Street Hill, Holborn Hill and Tower Hill.

The world was made in seven days. There were seven famous cities of antiquity: Rome, Antioch, Nineveh, Babylon, Athens, Tyre and Carthage. There are seven wonders of the world, that is of the ancient world, and these were: The Colossus of Rhodes (a huge statue striding across the entrance to the harbor of Rhodes), the Pyramids, the Ephesian Temple of Diana, the Mausoleum, the tomb of King Mausolus, the remains of which are now in the British Museum), the Hanging Gardens of Babylon, the Statue of Jupiter and the Pharos. There are also seven wonders of history. These are: the Colosseum, the Catacombs, the Great Wall of China, Stonehenge, the Leaning Tower of Pisa, the Porcelain Tower of Nan-kin, and the Mosque of St. Sophia at Constantinople. Here are the seven new wonders of the world: Wireless, the telephone, the aeroplane, radium, antiseptics and antibiotics, spectrum analysis, X-rays. There are many passages in the Bible in which the number seven is mentioned, and it is on this account and the facts mentioned above that seven is considered a sacred number.

UP TO CITIZENS.

The street cleaners may pick up every scrap of paper. Householders may rake and comb their neatly trimmed lawns. But if the people of a town persist in maintaining ugly buildings, the town will always offend people of good taste. Our laws preserve jealously the rights of the individual. Every man's house is his castle. If he sees fit to paint it a shouting combination of blue, purple, and orange, he can do it. The law can not interfere. Many advanced reformers demand a closer regulation of the development of private property. They would have means for any prospective building inspected in advance by a building commission, which should have power to reject anything that would lower the appearance of the town.

Much can be said for such an idea. Yet when you consider how municipal office is filled, how the politicians would enjoy serving on such a commission, with its possible changes of graft, proposals for any such regulation will go very slow. People who contemplate any kind of building should consider not merely the costs and income of it, but its effect on the town as a whole. A tiny structure that can be taken down does more harm than taxes are worth. The worst offenders are not always the cheap builders. Some men who invest large sums of money, erect florid and conspicuous structures that are ridiculously unfit. If such buildings could hear the remarks of their neighbors, they would need no regulation by building commission. A building dating back to a town's early history often stands long after its use has passed. Paint judiciously applied will at least make it inconspicuous. If it is not worth a good coat of paint, it isn't worth standing. If it has any appearance of being ramshackle, it injures nearby real estate, and is not a profitable investment for the owner.

PHILIPP READY.

By refusing to permit his name to be mentioned as a candidate for the United States senatorial nomination, Emanuel Philipp, governor of the state of Wisconsin, has placed himself in the position of being prepared to accept the renomination of the republicans of the state at the gathering of republicans to be held in Madison some time in June or July. The taxpayers, the voters and the citizens, regardless of political entanglement, want him for their chief executive and it is to be hoped he will accept and be elected and be backed up by an assembly and state senate so that he may enact the needed reforms or the old "reform" laws and not be hampered by tax-eaters.

THE PROPOSED SUIT.

The proposed suit to remove buildings now erected on the Milwaukee street bridge and prohibit any injunction the erection of others, is all right in its way, but it has such a peculiar political smell that one wonders why it was resurrected just at this time if at all. In fact it is currently discussed in Madison that the attorney general merely signed his name to the complaint, but that the whole effort is the accomplishment of a former Janesville resident now practicing law in the Capitol City who is closely affiliated with the La Follette faction. If this be true the attorney general was merely the modus convenience of accomplishing a political coup which may result in a boomerang to the thrower if rumors be correct.

PATRIOTIC WOMEN.

Formerly the Daughters of the American Revolution impressed the public as too inclined to throw bouquets at their own families. In this adulation of ancestors, there seemed to be too much consciousness of their own blueness of blood. In later years the organization has ceased talking so much about the past. The reports presented at the Continental Congress at Washington, the past week, suggest lines along which all patriotic women should work.

Formerly the war correspondents were the proper ones to report these conventions. Bitter personal animosities gave the meetings a picturesque atmosphere of battle. The fighting spirit might have been suitable to the daughters of warriors, but it seemed the outgrowth of too much thought about pedigrees.

This society now tries to educate aliens in civic ideals. It had been striving for ten years to eradicate the hyphen before that idea attracted attention. They foresaw that the man who feeds on a foreign language paper and lives in an alien settlement, is not an intelligent citizen. The foreigner's welcome to our shores is usually the getting fleeced by smooth sharpers. When these women approach him to attend classes, he wonders what game they are playing on him. Often he meets sectarian appeals from those who would convert him to some faith other than that of his fathers. It seems hard for him to grasp the fact that this appeal may be based purely on patriotic spirit. Aliens can be made very loyal citizens. No one who never lived under a tyrannical government can appreciate a free country as they do. They should be taught the need of preparation for citizenship and the folly of removing children too early from school. The work of the D. A. R. organization along these lines may well be copied by women's clubs and other associations.

SEED TIME.

To the man with an imaginative mind, there is something very poetical about seed time in the rural districts. That the tiny seed now planted should grow to such grand harvests typifies all evolution and the flowing of vast results from seemingly trifling causes. Harvest time may be said to be the season of joy, when man gains the satisfaction of his toil. Seed time is the season of youth and hope. It stands for human energy, the willingness to stake labor and expenditure on the unknown future. Modern science is said to take the poetry out of life. It certainly has reduced the chance element in farming. The man who plays the game scientifically gets his reward. Seed time now stands for the spirit of industry, the willingness to devote energy for the support of a family and other ends held dear. It is still the season of hope and faith. No ending, no matter how fruitful, ever has quite so much romance as the beginning.

ARE YOU A SLACKER?

Are you a slacker? Did you fail to do your share in the clean-up campaign? If so make up for lost time and do it at once. Janesville must be a clean city and the flies must be obliterated if possible. Get busy with rake and broom and clean up and sweep up and cart away the rubbish and accumulations of the past months and be ready for spring when it really arrives with its band boxes and flowers and the trees leaf forth and the birds sing their glad carols. Do not be a slacker but get into the trenches and fight the common enemy—filth.

Oscar Twiss, famous composer, was striding in the woods seeking inspiration for his immortal Symphony in Omega Minor. The deedie bird motif, the wild caucousal fugue, the prelude of falling birch beer leaves, all were perfected, but the finale, the brilliant ending, was still missing. The great composer strained his ear for an inspiring sound. At last! At last! Feverishly he transcribed it. The great Symphony in Omega Minor was complete at last! And meanwhile, flat on his back in a nearby ditch, Wetheraby Sauers, sweating and swearing, continued to tinker the escape valve of his stranded car with a hairpin and a penknife, all unaware of the priceless service he had rendered the world's feverishly waiting music lovers.

Duration of a Wink.

The time occupied by the several phases of the movement has been measured, and it is found that the mean duration of the descent of the lid is from seventy-five to ninety-one hundredths of a second.

The interval while the eye is shut was in one case only fifteen-hundredths of a second. The rising of the lid occupies seventeen-hundredths of a second. A specially arranged photograph apparatus was used. The popular phrase that something is done "quicker than a wink" is therefore expressive to a degree that may be stated in fractions of a second.—Washington Star.

PROGRESSIVES MAY HOLD CONVENTION

SUCCESS TO THE TWO CONSERVATIVE GATHERINGS LEADS TO PLAN OF SIMILAR ACTION.

TALK OF ALTERNATES

Republican State Central Committee to Name Alternates to Delegates Elected to National G. O. P. Convention.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Milwaukee, May 3.—Editor Goodland of the Gazette is very much in earnest about his plan to hold a state convention of ultra progressive republicans at some date to be determined in the future at which all the members of the republican party who support Senator La Follette, high taxes and the ultra progressive ideals will be welcome. This convention is to formally endorse Robert M. La Follette as the candidate for United States senator, to decide on a state ticket and transact other business.

Mr. Goodland claims that he has taken the matter up with leading progressives throughout the state and they are in hearty accord with his views on the subject and the success of a gathering is assured. Of course there is one decided hitch, and that is, will La Follette approve? If he does it will be a repudiation of his former ideals that convention is useless and if he does not the convention would fail by its own weight.

The success of the two conservative republican conventions, held this winter, the first January 27th at Madison, on call of the republican state central committee, at which some sixteen hundred delegates were present and the delegates to the national republican convention, which was held at Madison on April 26th, when a candidate for United States senator in the person of Malcolm G. Dennis was selected, has evidently stirred up the progressives to a similar action.

While great hue and cry is made over the total vote cast for La Follette in the presidential primary and many delegates elected, whether conservative or progressive, are in honor bound to vote for him for the presidential nomination at the Chicago convention.

It is estimated that the majority of the delegates to the Chicago convention, if he had not had the ten thousand Milwaukee socialist votes in Milwaukee county in return for the votes of the La Follette progressives for Hoan, the socialist candidate for mayor, he would have lost the fourth and fifth congressional districts, probably one of two of his three delegates at large and lost control of the state delegation. This is realized by the progressives, although they will not admit it publicly and in consequence they want to hold a state-wide conference to try and bolster up their cause by similar methods to the conservatives.

Another problem that is troubling the progressives is the question of action with the republican state central committee take upon the question of selection of alternates to the national convention. The conservatives control this committee and they have the right under the law to name the alternates. If they see fit to name conservative republicans they could do so despite the fact that the progressives have the right to name the alternates. This is troubling the progressives as they see a possibility of losing control of the delegation.

This could easily be accomplished if one delegate of the La Follette delegation were unable to attend the convention and their alternates, supposing they were conservatives, did attend and took their seats. This would mean a failure of the progressives to be able to present the name of La Follette to the convention as a candidate for the presidency, failure to secure places on the various important committees and also the right to obtain the coveted seat on the national committee now held by Mr. Rogers, La Follette's law partner.

The state central committee has not as yet indicated what their action on this question will be and the progressives consequently are much worried. It is possible, however, that the various committeemen will be convinced by the fact that the progressives have defeated candidates in the progressive districts or some persons chosen by the committeemen from that certain district. Until this is settled the outcome is a question.

PAVEMENT MEETING SET FOR THURSDAY

Property Owners on South Franklin Street Last Night Unable to Reach Agreement Over Paving.

About twenty property owners from South Franklin street, were represented at the meeting held at the city hall last evening, to decide on what action of pavement is to be laid on this street. No final decision of definite action was taken, the majority deciding to hold another meeting Thursday evening at the city hall, at which time a larger attendance is desired and expected.

The committee who went to Beloit with Superintendent of Streets Goodman made a report over their findings and stated that they were favorably impressed by the first-hand information obtained on permanent pavings in that city. The committee seemed to voice an opinion that showed that they had studied and appreciated the stand of the city commission against water-bound macadam because of the maintenance cost and the poor pavement that it makes under traffic conditions.

The committee seemed to voice a logical opinion that to be laid on South Franklin street, with the first two blocks, south from Milwaukee street, would be a very good foundation of macadam to be laid on brick at a small expense. The traffic conditions on these two blocks at least demands that brick be laid. The committee seemed to voice an opinion that it would be a poor financial venture for the property-owners to demand that plain macadam be placed on South Franklin street.

The persons at the meeting discussed at some length the problem last night but were unable to come to an agreement, so the meeting Thursday evening was adjourned.

"A Man of Sorrow," an adaptation of the stage success, "Hodman Blind," is the next featured film in which William Farnum will appear. With him in this play is Miss Dorothy Bernard. The photoplay was made in California.

In "A Man of Sorrow," Farnum plays the part of Jack Hewitt, who has been reclaimed from the drink habit and is in love with Nance Landon (Dorothy Bernard). But the path of true love does not run smooth, and an arch villain succeeds in separating the pair. This villain and his partner have everything their own way for a time, and even kill Nance's father and take his money. But eventually the misunderstanding between the sweethearts is cleared away, and the villains discover to their discomfiture that the wages of sin is death.

PAVLOWA AS DUMB GIRL OF PORTICI

Pavlova, the soul of grace, has made a record in moving picture history in her remarkable presentation of the little dumb girl of Portici. She is assisted by a brilliant cast, including her ballet Russe, which renders a number of stunning dances. The production is amazing. You are not only given many of Pavlova's exquisite dances, but there are overwhelming mob scenes, where fearless riders dash madly into frenzied mass of humanity that wavers a moment, then dashes on and sweeps both horses and riders aside. Rupert Julian is masterly in his acting of the dumb girl's brother, who goes mad at the moment of his greatest triumph.

The most beautiful thing in the whole production is the ending, where the soul of the lovely dumb girl, winging his way up through the clouds, pauses to look back at the one he loved, and you can almost hear his whisper to him—Do you remember?

Frank Powell, with his company, headed by Bruce McRae and Cora Holmes, received permission to use the entire Cuban navy while staging "The Chain Invisible" at Havana recently. Mr. Powell says the Cuban government has no more warship than the Swiss navy.

AT MYERS THEATRE

The Truth About "Twilight Sleep," the western debut of a wonderful motion picture on Twilight Sleep, the great German discovery with an accompanying lecture will be given at the Myers Theatre, date May 4, 5 and 6, 1916.

Dr. Schlossberg, the associate of Professors Kronig and Gauss the discoverers of the treatment, personally conducted twilight cases in the great Frauenklinik for nearly four years. These pictures were taken in a private sanitarium under the direct supervision of the Freiburg specialist himself. There is nothing indecent or vulgar about these pictures, but will prove interesting to all present. The lecture will point out interesting details in every fact that a woman or a man, for that matter, would like to know about the treatment. Of course there are always problems associated with the individual mother-points that fit her case, that she especially is interested in. To meet this condition, the lecturer will arrange to answer a number of questions to those interested in the subject.

The pictures are beautiful examples of motion picture art, were made during a twilight operation in a private sanitarium in New York. They show every step of the treatment. Pictures of mothers and babies, and babies will be shown twilight babies of every age from ten days up to three years old, the latter a veteran from Freiburg.

Master George Haliday. Twilight Sleep Baby. Age 9 Months.

While there is not the slightest feature suggestive or objectionable in the depiction of twilight sleep, yet in view of the entire frankness with which the whole subject is approached, special or separate performance will be given to women and men exclusively. Children under sixteen will not be admitted unless specially arranged.

Helen, on the Special, had taken her place in the cab where she could urge the engineer to every burst of speed his machine was capable of. "One minute," she reminded him pathetically and more than once, "may mean a life very dear to me. Do the very best you can, won't you?" she pleaded.

Tense and collected under the strain, Helen, staring through the open cab window, had only eyes for the cars, which in another moment she saw stood in on the switch with the last gondola spotted for loading under the chute.

What car had Storm been thrown into? The question racked her nerves and clutched at her heart.

With Storm still struggling on the car floor, the foreman of the ore plant, taking a fresh chew of tobacco, signaled: "Ore on!" A man below threw the lever and the jagged quartz rock tumbled with a roar into the chute.

Storm, working to free himself, had heard the foreman's order, heard the deadly rush of the falling rock. It was only as the great chute—the one which he, himself, had helped to install and which worked with such fatal efficiency—slowly descended that he gave up hope.

A cry outside, a woman's voice, hardly roused him from his stupor. But the next moment he felt a great shock. It seemed as if he were launched precipitately into space; the world was falling around him. Overhead, a mighty roar crashed on his hearing—consciousness left him.

It is indeed strange and significant that in all cases of mineral starvation brought about by a prolonged diet of refined food, examination of the blood shows physical signs of dilation. The heart is always enlarged in these cases. Malnutrition and enlargement of the heart can also be said to be synonymous with the disease which some commentators call "heart disease." In the same disease which other commentators call "heart disease," pellagra, edema, neuritis, or general breakdown of the heart is always involved, and in the same manner.

It is peculiarly noteworthy that the disease of mineral deficiency runs parallel with the system of milling introduced in the United States about 1880. Numerous instances, some of which we shall examine, are of record indicating that a deficiency of iron, phosphorus, potassium, calcium, and the other mineral salts, colloids and vitamins of vegetable origin, leads to numerous forms of physical disorder in which "heart disease" is one of the constant factors.

Many cases are on record to prove that where offending foods are entirely missing from a refined diet, the heart becomes involved in from forty to sixty days. Many other instances are on record to show that where offending foods are consumed to an extent sufficient to retard the progress of mineral starvation, the development of the disease is delayed accordingly.

It is certain that where refined or demineralized foods make up a considerable portion of the diet, the disease may not develop for years and then may be described as merely a mild or unrecognized disorder, as opposed to the more serious and unpleasant symptoms which do not as a rule cause their victim to become overanxious or unduly alarmed about his health.

Where the diet is abundant and includes a wide variety, as in the case in the restaurant experience of the average business man who partakes of a more or less pretentious noonday meal, the diet seems capable of justifying itself to a considerable abuse of acid forming foods over a long period.

After the fortieth year, however, the effects of mineral deficiency begin to manifest themselves, as we have seen, in "heart disease."

Until 1913 the medical profession in the United States was largely of the opinion that the disease called "heart disease" was confined to the tropics. For this reason it was rarely suspected that the "heart disease" of the United States and the "heart disease" of the tropics might be the same disease, related to each other or at least due to the same cause.

FOODS THEY BUILD OR DESTROY

Amazing but rarely suspected truths about the things you eat.

By ALFRED W. McCANN (Copyright, 1916, by Alfred W. McCann.)

CHAPTER 53.

Heart disease, now the constant increase in the United States, runs parallel with our modern commercial custom of refining and demineralizing the chief breadstuffs of the people. The disease, the most commonly talked of infirmity of human flesh is the disorder popularly described as "heart disease." Heart disease is constantly increasing in the United States.

It is indeed strange and significant that in all cases of mineral starvation brought about by a prolonged diet of refined food, examination of the blood shows physical signs of dilation. The heart is always enlarged in these cases. Malnutrition and enlargement of the heart can also be said to be synonymous with the disease which some commentators call "heart disease." In the same disease which other commentators call "heart disease," pellagra, edema, neuritis, or general breakdown of the heart is always involved, and in the same manner.

"The Misleading Lady," a five-act photoplay adapted by H. S. Sheldon from the drama of the same title by Charles W. Goddard and Paul Dicker, will be presented at the Beverly Theatre on Thursday. Henry B. Walthall and Edna Mayo are the leads in the story that deals with a woman's contempt of a man and his reversion to type in his wooing of her.

Many miles of country were covered in the making of the picture. Mr. Walthall, Miss Mayo and several of the supporting cast went to Milwaukee, where many "sets" of wilderness scenes were taken.

"The Misleading Lady" is a psychological study of reversion to type. It portrays a woman who scorns conventions.

In the drama are the throbs of passion, raw and unrestrained. There is the situation in which the brute man hides in evening dress and captures the cultured and sheltered girl. And then there is the gradual reversion to the cave woman in which the girl becomes fit mate for the man who loves her.

Edgerton, May 3.—W. A. Marquet of Philadelphia, N. Y., has been visiting at the home of W. W. Roberts for a few days, and together with Mr. Roberts departed for Draper, South Dakota, last evening.

Edgerton, May 3.—Edgerton accepted a position with the Fairbanks-Morse company at Beloit in the supply department.

Miss Doris Clarke called on Milton friends last evening.

F. W. Schoenfeld, C. W. Birkenmeyer, Frank Pringle and C. G. Biederman are Montana business callers for a few days.

A wrecking crew is at work tearing down the old Titus drug store and by causes which, while dissimilar in intensity, were, nevertheless, the same in character.

Nov. 6, 1913, Dr. Herman D. Parker of the United States Public Health Service was called to Elizabeth, N. J., to investigate an epidemic described as "jail edema," which had broken out in the county jail.

In this jail, as in many others, the food was extremely meagre and of the typical refined type, consisting chiefly of white breadstuffs, polished rice, boiled potatoes, beef clogs, and coffee. Later prisoners were confined only to a boiling trial or serving a sentence of one year or less.

For fifteen years prior to the investigation of Dr. Parker there had been a history of periodic epidemics of the same "jail edema."

Dr. Lavin, the jail physician, had made a record for three years of the mysterious disorder and had noted that 30 per cent of all the prisoners serving more than ninety days contracted the disease, which the government officials finally described as "beriberi," but which, as we shall see later, was described by other groups of federal scientists as "pellagra."

In Dr. Parker's public health report of the Elizabeth investigation he stated: "The fact that the disease existed so long without recognition in one locality leads to the supposition that it probably exists under similar circumstances in other localities."

"Dilated heart," "heart dilation," "heart enlarged," are some of the official phrases used in describing the physical condition of the heart in all the cases examined.

The fact that in every one of these Elizabeth county jail cases, involvement of the heart was noted as one of the chief symptoms and the further fact that a demineralized diet was finally admitted to be the cause of the disease are peculiarly significant when it is considered that in "pellagra" and "beriberi" the heart is always involved in the same way.

This significance is still further emphasized when it is considered that the same character of "heart disease" is on a constant increase in the United States.

Thus as we advance in our study of the laws of nutrition we are forced to conclude that the character of food consumed by man does affect his health for good or evil, and that behind this influence, which is direct and positive, fixed and inexorable laws are operating.

In our exploration of the field controlled by these laws we have thus far made little more than head work in the foothills, but we have already beheld sufficient on our brief journey to justify the assertion that many diseases exist only by reason of man's anarchy with respect to the simplest of all lives—the laws of nutrition.

We are now prepared to review some of the poison squad experiments which contradict the truth of this assertion, and at the same time to discuss the complicated and attenuated theories which seek an explanation for the commonest of disorders under a list of scientific Latin names or semi-scientific phrases.

W. S. Heddles of Madison was a business caller in this city last evening.

Mrs. Peterson of Janesville was a guest of friends and relatives in this city yesterday.

The young ladies of the German Lutheran church met at the home of Miss Paul Geke last evening. Refreshments and a social evening constituted the evening entertainment.

Wileman & Kealey moved their teams and tools to Broadhead this morning to commence work on a road contract. They have about three miles of road to construct.

Mrs. Norman E. Brokaw and little daughter of Oconto Falls arrived in the city today for a visit at the home of her father, W. A. North.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. W. Dickenson last evening and entertained the young ladies of the city. A fine program was rendered, and refreshments were served, after which a social hour was spent. The ladies report a very pleasant evening.

D. P. Dine transacted business at Mazomanie yesterday.

Paul Johnson of Sloughington is spending a few days at the home of his brother, J. S. Johnson.

M. O. Dawson was a business caller at the Capital City yesterday.

Alfred Anderson was a business caller at Milwaukee Tuesday.

Theo. Jergenson of Janesville has moved his household effects and family to Edgerton, where he will make his future home.

The Dutch market given by the ladies of the Relief Corps at the T. A. B. Hall last evening was well patronized. In reporting the annual medal contest which was held at the high school Monday night a complete program was given in the Gazette. In this program the names of the speakers were given as they appeared and not as the medals were awarded. Perhaps this program was confusing and we wish again to state the results as they were given by the judges. The best original oration was won by Sanford Smith. The original story was won by Dorothy Towne. The oratorical contest was won by Kenneth Barle and the girls' declamatory contest was won by Margaret Cunningham.

For twenty-seven years Mr. Shumway has conducted a barber shop in the Pollard block that is being torn down to be replaced by a new building, and today is the last day the old shop will be in operation. The fixtures will be stored in the Hubbell warehouse and Mr. Shumway will take his first real vacation. When the new building is completed he will again open his shop.

THE GIRL AND THE GAME...

He knew he was in no danger until he should reach the ruin, not even then. If he were only able to cry out. But struggle as he would, he could not release his hands and feet nor the gag that half choked him. Every movement of the train was so familiar to him that it added to the horror of his situation.

He was hoping it might stop before it should reach the deadly chute, for it was this that constituted his peril.

Revolving rapidly in his mind the features of his situation, he felt the car rolling slowly and monotonously on until it seemed as if the train must have traversed twice the length of the switch—the track of which he was familiar with—and the farther he was pulled, the worse his predicament looked.

The car rolled slower and slower. He knew well what the engineer was doing: pulling ahead to spot the last gondola under the chute. Storm saw, as the condemned man sees the blade of the guillotine poised above him, the chute itself come into sight. The next moment his own gondola drew under it and stopped.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Soon Angeline Will Know It All

BY F. LEIPZIGER

THE NEWEST REMEDY

FOR Backache, Rheumatism and Dropsy.

Kidney, Bladder and Uric Acid troubles bring misery to many. When the kidneys are weak or diseased, these natural filters do not cleanse the blood sufficiently, and the poisons are carried to all parts of the body. There follow depression, aches and pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, chilliness and rheumatism. In some people there are sharp pains in the back and joints, distressing bladder disorders and sometimes obstinate dropsy. The uric acid sometimes forms into gravel or kidney stones. When the uric acid affects the muscles and joints, it causes lumbago, rheumatism, gout or sciatica. This is the time to try "Annie."

During digestion uric acid is absorbed into the system from meat eaten, and even from some vegetables. The poor kidneys get tired and backache begins. This is a good time to take "Annie," the new discovery of Dr. Pierce for Kidney trouble and Backache. The powerful kidney trouble is responsible for many deaths, and Insurance Companies examining doctors always test the water of an applicant before a policy will be issued. Have you ever set aside a bottle of water for twenty-four hours? A heavy sediment or settling sometimes indicates kidney trouble. The true nature and character of diseases, especially those of the kidneys and urinary organs, can often be determined by a careful chemical analysis and microscopic examination. This is done by expert chemists of the Medical Staff of this Invalids' Hotel. If you wish to know your condition send a sample of your water to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and describe your symptoms. It will be examined without any expense to you, and Doctor Pierce or his Staff of Assisting Physicians will inform you truthfully.

KNOW YOURSELF!
Read all about yourself, your system, physiology, anatomy, hygiene, simple home cures, etc., in the "Common Sense Medical Advisor," a book of 1008 pages. Send to Dr. V. M. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., three dimes or ten cents in one-cent stamps for a cloth-bound copy.

Biblical Warning.
Here is a warning written by St. Peter that I, indeed, would tend to greatly fortify good intentions. Distressing and dangerous complications may follow if you neglect it. When a cough is serious, a stage is reached. Eckman's Alternative may bring relief. For more than twenty years it has been widely used in such cases with beneficial results.

As with any medication employed in this trouble, the best results are obtained when the patient pays strict attention to diet and gets plenty of rest and fresh air.

Because of its easily assimilable content of calcium chlorid, this preparation is effective where a tonic builder is indicated. As a corrector of night sweats it has proved most useful. It may be tried with absolute safety, since it contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs of any sort.

Thought She Had Swallowed Lead

Fond du Lac Woman Tells of a Remarkable Experience She Has Just Been Through.

Mrs. Rose Tock, of 31 South Hickory street, Fond du Lac, was unable to understand why she should always feel tired and nervous. Now she understands since she has found relief from this trouble.

"I did not know what caused me to feel so no account," Mrs. Tock says recently. "I was nervous and depressed. My stomach was out of order and I had indigestion. In fact nothing I ate agreed with me and I would feel as though I had swallowed a lead weight. I suffered from terrible sick headaches and fainting spells. I was so weak at times that I could hardly stand up. I felt discouraged and melancholy without any apparent reason."

"I was persuaded to try Tanlac by a friend. Since using the medicine I feel like a different woman. I feel more like working because I have lots of energy. I do not have any more fainting spells and have lots of strength. I can digest my food well, am not so nervous and sleep much better. I always have a good word to say for Tanlac because I am grateful for what it did for me."

Tanlac is a powerful reconstructive, appetizer, and invigorator. Hundreds testify that they have found it beneficial in cases of stomach, liver and kidney disorders as well as catarrh. Tanlac may be obtained here at Smith's Drug Store.

Brouillard looked up under the shaded electric globe and his handsome face wrinkled in a sour smile. "You are ready to let go, are you?" he said. "You are too late. Mr. Ford returned from Europe a week ago, and I have a wire saying that tonight's through freight from Brewster is chiefly made up of empty ore cars for the 'Little Susan'."

The sandy-gray eyes blinked at this, but Mr. Cortwright was of those who die hard.

"What I said still holds good. Massingale or his son, or both of them, will gamble the money. And if they don't, we've got 'em tied up in a hard knot on the stock proposition."

"I was coming to that," said Brouillard quietly. "For a long time you have been telling me what I should do and I have done it. Now I'll take my turn. You must notify your associates that the 'Little Susan' deal is off. There will be a called meeting of the directors here in this room tomorrow evening at eight o'clock, and—"

"Who calls it?" interrupted the tyrant.

"The president."

"President nothing!" was the snorted comment. "An old, drunken gambler who hasn't got sense enough to go in when it rains! Say, Brouillard, I'll cut that pie so there'll be enough to go around the table. Just leave Massingale out of it and make up your mind that you're going to sit in with us. We've bought the mine and paid for it. I've got the stock put away where it's safe. Massingale can't touch a share of it, or vote it, either."

Brouillard shook his head.

"You are stubbornly hard to convince, Mr. Cortwright, but I'll try one more time. You will come here tomorrow evening, with your confederates in the deal, prepared to take the money you have actually spent in betterments and prepared to release the stock. If you fail to do so you will get nothing. Is that explicit enough?"

"You're crazy!" shouted the promoter. "You talk as if there wasn't any law in this country!"

"There isn't—for such men as you; you and your kind put yourselves above the law. But that is neither here nor there. You don't want to go into court with this conspiracy which you have cooked up to beat David Massingale out of his property. It's the last thing on earth you want to do. So you'd better do the other thing—while you can."

CHAPTER XXII

The Sunset Gun

Mr. Cortwright sat back in his chair, and once more Brouillard saw in the sandy-gray eyes the look which had been in the son's eyes when the derelict fought for freedom to finish killing Stephen Massingale.

"It's a pretty dangerous thing to try to hold a man up unless you've got the drop on him, Brouillard," he said significantly. "I've got you covered from my pocket. I've had you covered that way ever since you began to buck and rear on me a couple of months ago. One little wire word to Washington fixes you for good and all. If I say the word, you'll stay on your job just as long as it will take another man to get here to supersede you."

Brouillard laughed.

"The pocket drop is never very safe, Mr. Cortwright. You are likely to lose too much time feeling for the proper range. Then, too, you can never be sure that you won't miss. Also, your assumption that I'm taking an unarmed man's chance is wrong. I can kill you before you can pull the trigger of the pocket gun you speak of—kill you so dead that you won't need anything but a coroner's jury and a coffin. How long would it take you to get action in the Washington matter, do you think?"

"I've told you; you have just about a week longer to live, at the farthest."

"I can better that," was the cool reply. "I have asked you to do a contain thing tomorrow night, if you don't do it, the Spotlight will print, on the following morning, that letter I spoke of—the letter from my friend in the bureau of land statistics. When that letter is printed everybody in Mirapolis will know that you and your accomplices are plain swindlers, amenable to the criminal law, and from that moment there will never be another real estate transfer in the Niagara valley."

The promoter rose slowly out of his chair and stood leaning heavily on his flat hands, palms downward, on the flat-topped desk. His cheeks were puffed out and the bitten mustaches bristled like the whiskers of a gray old leader of the timber wolves.

"Brouillard," he grated huskily, "does this mean that you're breaking with us, once for all?"

"It means more than that; it means that I have reached a point at which I am ashamed to admit that there was ever anything to break."

"Then listen: You've helped this thing along as much as, or more than, anybody else in this town; and there are men right here in Mirapolis—plenty of 'em—who will kill you like a rat in a hole if you go back on them as you are threatening to. Don't you know that?"

The younger man was balancing the paper cutter across his finger.

"That is the least of my worries," he answered, speaking slowly. "I am all sorts of a moral coward, I suppose; I've proved that often enough in the past few months. God knows. But I'm not the other kind, Mr. Cortwright."

"Then I'll take a hand!" snarled the tyrant at bay. "I'll spend a million dollars, if I have to, blackkissing you from one end of this country to the other! I'll fix it so you'll never build anything bigger than a hog pen again as long as you live! I'll publish your record wherever there is a newspaper to print it!"

He pounded on the desk with his fist—"I'll do it—money can do it! More than that, you'll never get a smell of that Chirigino mine—you nor Dave Massingale!"

Brouillard tossed the paper-knife into a half-opened drawer and squared himself at the blotting pad.

"That is your challenge, is it?" he said curtly. "So be it. Start your machinery. You will doubtless get me, not because you have money, but because for a time I was weak enough and wicked enough to climb down and stand on your level. But if you don't hurry, Mr. Cortwright, I'll get you first."

Are you going? One thing more—and it's a kindness; get your son out of town before this Massingale matter comes up for adjustment. It will be safer."

"Is that all you have to say?"

"Pretty nearly all, except to tell you that your time is growing short, and you and those who are in with you had better begin to set your houses in order. If you'll come over here at eight o'clock tomorrow night prepared to do the square thing by David Massingale, I'll withhold the publication of that letter which will stamp you and your associates as criminals before the law; but that is the only concession I shall make."

"You've got to make at least one more!" stormed the outgoing magnate. "You don't have to set any dates or anything of that kind for your damned drowning act!"

In justice to a good many people who are measurably innocent, I shall have to do that very thing," returned the engineer firmly. "The notice will appear in tomorrow's Spotlight."

It was the final straw in the stocky promoter's crushing wrath burden. His fat face turned purple, and for a second or two he clawed the air, gasping for breath. Brouillard sat back in his chair, waiting for the volcanic upheaval. But it did not come. When he had regained a measure of self-control, Mr. Cortwright turned slowly and went out without a word, stumbling over the threshold and slamming the door heavily as he disappeared.

For a time after the promoter's wordless departure Brouillard sat at his desk writing steadily. When the last of the memorandum sheets was filled he found his hat and street coat and left the office. Ten minutes later he had penetrated to the dusty den on the second floor of the Spotlight office where Harlan was grinding copy for his paper. Brouillard took a chair at the desk-end and laid the sheets of penciled government paper under the editor's eyes.

Harlan's lean, fine-lined face was a study in changing emotions as he read. But at the end there was an aggrieved look in his eyes, mirroring the poignant regret of a newspaperman who has found a priceless story which he dares not use.

"It's ripping," he sighed, "the biggest piece of fireworks a poor devil of a newspaperman ever had a chance to touch off. But, of course, I can't print it."

"Why of course?"

"For the same reason that a sane man doesn't kick down the muzzle of a loaded gun when he is monkeying with the trigger. I want to live a little while longer."

Brouillard looked relieved.

"I thought, perhaps, it was on account of your investments," he said. "Not at the present writing," amended Harlan with a grin. "I got a case of cold feet when we had that little let-up a while back, and when the market unless a fixed day is set there will be no move made. We are all trespassers here, and we've been warned off. That's all there is to it. And if we can't get our little belongings up into the hills in three weeks it's our loss; we had no business bringing them here."

The editor looked up with a light of a new discovery in his eyes. "You say 'we' and 'our.' That reminds me; Garner told me no longer ago than this afternoon that you are on record for something like a hundred thousand dollars' worth of choice Mirapolis front feet. How about that?"

Brouillard's smile was quite heart-whole.

"I've kept my salary in a separate pocket, Harlan. Besides that—well, I came here with nothing and I shall go away with nothing. The rest of it was all stage money."

"Say—by hen!" ejaculated the owner of the Spotlight. Then, smiting the desk: "You ought to let me print that. I'd run it in red headlines across the top of the front page. But, of course, you won't."

Well, here goes for the fireworks and a chance of a soaped rope." And he pushed the bell button for the copy boy.

Late as it was when he left the Spotlight office, Brouillard waited on the corner for a Quadragen car, and, catching one, he was presently whisked out to the ornate villa in the eastern suburb. There was a light in the hall and another in a room to the rear, and it was Amy who answered his touch of the bell-push.

"No, I can't stay," he said, when she asked him in. "But I had to come, if it was only for a minute. The deed is done. I've had my next-to-the-last round-up with Mr. J. Wesley Cortwright, and tomorrow's Spotlight will fire the sunset gun for Mirapolis. Is your father here?"

"No, He and Stevie are up at the mine. I am looking for them on every car."

"When they come, tell your father it's time to hike. Are you all packed?"

She nodded. "Everything is ready."

Dinner Stories

At a certain church in a Jersey town it is the invariable custom of the clergyman to kiss the bride after the ceremony. A young woman who was about to be married in this church did not relish the prospect and instructed her prospective husband to tell the clergyman that she did not wish him to kiss her. The bridegroom obeyed the instructions given.

"Well, Harry," said the young woman when he appeared, "did you tell the minister that I did not wish him to kiss me?"

"And what did he say?"

"He said that, in that case, he would charge only half the usual fee."

Among the clerks in the office of one of the cabinet members at Washington is a very dull young man, who seems never to be able to do anything without making mistakes.

"Why do you keep that fellow?" asked a colleague one day. "He seems a perfect fool."

"Well," said the other, "the fact is, he is one of the most useful clerks I have. Before I issue an order, I always have him read it. If he can tell what it means, I am sure that there can be no chance that anyone will misunderstand it."

The gourmandizer smacked his lips when the last of his two dozen blue-points had passed down his throat. Then he looked at his watch.

"12 p. m.," it told him.

He glanced at a calendar on the wall.

"April 30," it said.

"I'd have another month for eating oysters, if some idiot had never nicknamed Mary 'May,'" he growled.

in Want Ads

No. 4 Several Want Ads in the Same Issue of the Paper Bring Greater Results!

If you are going to use the Want Ad columns, and really wish to reach several different classes, why not use several different classifications?

People read the special class of Want Ads that interest them. You would not advertise for Male Help under the "Female Help Wanted," nor would you advertise Machinery under "Business Opportunities." The following explain how one Want Ad may be rewritten so that it has many angles:

THE GENERAL WANT AD
Suits for men and women on credit. No additional charge and no interest. Dress in style and pay as you can. Call at once at...

THE SPECIAL APPEAL TO MEN
LOOK RIGHT WHEN YOU LOOK FOR WORK. If you do not appear prosperous, how do you expect employers to have confidence in you? Call and let us tell you what we can do in credit clothing for you. Come to...

The same idea may be worked out for women, and it may be used in the Personal column. Thus, the various kinds of persons who should read it, actually see it!

The idea of the Want Ad is to carry your message to people. Every reader of this paper has something in common with the Want Ad columns. So long as you can profit by reaching all of them, place your Want Ad wherever it will attract attention and get business.

Firms that follow this plan are uniformly prosperous, because Want Ads cost little, and reach many.

If you have something to sell, and reach all those who might buy, The Want Ad is a Partner That Does Not Need a Salary!

Did It Ever Occur To You—"Mr. Farmer"

That the only way you can quickly and satisfactorily sell those seed potatoes is by the use of the Gazette Want Ad. There are hundreds of town people at this very time searching for good seed potatoes to use in their spring planting. You too, are searching for buyers. Why not let the want ad be the connecting link between you and the many eager buyers.

Give The Little Silent Salesman A Chance

50c will be given you for the publication of a success letter, concerning the quick results from your ad.

BAD PITCHING MARKS SLUMP AMONG MAJORS

White Sox Tounce St. Louis White Cubs Lose at Chicago to St. Louis National.

The major league baseball campaigns are not quite two weeks old, but it already has become apparent that there is an excellent chance for "dark horses" in the two league pennant races. This is particularly true of the American league, as the Phillies are setting such a dizzy pace in the National league that it will be some time before a "dark horse" can show enough to warrant serious consideration.

The American league race has been featured, or perhaps it would be better to say marred, by the miserable pitching of supposedly strong staffs. The percentage table does not indicate it, but the only teams which have had consistent pitching to date are the Red Sox and Athletics, and the world's champions' staff did not look very good in its games in the east.

In the National league the hurling has been even worse. The Philly pitchers are all in wonderful shape and there has not been one poorly pitched game to date, the lone defeat being a 2 to 1, ten inning battle with the Giants. There have been several brilliant individual exhibitions of hurling in the National league, but these invariably have been followed by weird pitching in the next start. The averages show that the National league hurling is the poorest and most erratic in years, and therein lies the chance for the "dark horse" if the Phillies should slip.

Sox Handicapped.

With a pitching staff like Moran has there apparently is little chance for a long slump, but in the American league there is no pitching staff so well fortified with good reserve strength unless it is the Browns. Boston's grand staff has shown good form, but in reserve strength the Red Sox are not so well equipped as several other teams. With the team playing poor ball and feeling the loss of this speaker so keenly, the Red Sox probably would be eliminated from the race early if Ruth, Shore, Leonard or Foster should be injured or laid up with a lame arm for several days.

Detroit and Chicago, the two most powerful teams in the league, if not

In the entire country, barring pitching, still appear to be handicapped by the erratic and inferior work of the hurlers. Both are lucky to be so well up in the race, but they will not stay there if they strike a batting slump before the pitchers have rounded into form.

Fail to Hit.
Pitcher Doak allowed only two hits on Tuesday, and St. Louis checked Chicago's upward streak by winning 3 to 0. Doak walked four men, but in the pinch he pitched invincible ball. The Browns bunched a single and a triple in the first inning for the first run, and scored two more in the third on a base on balls to Bescher, a sacrifice, Betzel's triple and Doolen's wild throw to Saier of Long's ground. The Cubs also lost the services of Bill Fischer, the catcher, who had his third finger broken by a foul tip. He will be out of the game a couple of weeks. President Veehman announced, however, that he had signed Ed Allen, the former Pittsburgh Federal catcher, and he went East with the club Tuesday night.

Won in Ninth.
St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—With the score 4 to 3 in St. Louis' favor, Terry pinch hitting for Duntorf, with two out and two men on bases in the ninth, doubled, driving in two runs, which gave Chicago its third straight victory over St. Louis here on Tuesday, 5 to 4. It was the local's seventh consecutive defeat.

Although Chicago used five pitchers the home team could get but three hits, a single and two doubles, all, however, productive of runs. Faber, who started for Chicago, was wild, and after passing three in a row in the third, and a sacrifice fly and a single hit, he was out for the night. Weiman, who pitched the last two innings for St. Louis and in the ninth was hit for two doubles and two singles.

RALPH MULFORD SETS NEW AUTO RECORDS AT NEW YORK

New York, May 3.—Ralph Mulford broke all automobile records of from one to twenty-four hours Tuesday at Sheepshead Bay speedway when he covered 1319 and a fraction miles in a twenty-four hour run. The best previous distance for a twenty-four hour run was made by S. F. Edge, nearly nine years ago, in Brooklands track in England. Edge covered 1281 miles in twenty-four hours. The trial on Tuesday was sanctioned by the American Automobile association and timed by its representative.

MENTION JANESVILLE IN BASEBALL LEAGUE

M. B. Parsons, Former Secretary of W. I. League, Advocates Six-Team Semi-Pro Organization.

M. B. Parsons, former secretary of the W. I. League, is working to organize a six-team semi-professional league among the cities of southern Wisconsin. Janesville, Beloit, Madison, Edgerton, Monroe, Baraboo, Sun Prairie and Portage are some of the cities which are mentioned and it is understood that baseball fans in several of them are giving the proposition their serious consideration.

Only Sunday baseball will be played according to Mr. Parsons' plans. Experience in the past have been that only Sunday games can receive anything like real support in cities of the size of those which may enter teams. More players can be induced to join the clubs if games are confined to Sundays and holidays and the result will be a better class of baseball.

As soon as the organization is definitely assured, a meeting will be held at which a schedule and a draft of playing rules will be drawn up. It is hoped that the league may be in shape to start games by the middle of June.

CENTRAL ASSOCIATION SEASON OPENS WITH 4 GAMES TODAY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Cedar Rapids, Ia., May 3.—With eight strong teams in the Central Association and better prospects than last year for a money making season, the 1916 play was begun today with four games, as follows:
At Cedar Rapids with Waterloo.
At Clinton with Marshalltown.
At Muscatine with Mason City.
At Burlington with Port Dodge.
Each team will play sixty-five home games, nine Sunday games and one or two holiday games.

The death of the Federals has aided the smaller associations and leagues, as the Central as much as any, by making available a better class of players and by stabilizing the sport. President Justice thinks all the clubs this year will pave the way for many profitable seasons.

Joe Tinker believes that when the hot weather comes that his team will show material improvement. That is probably true of all teams. There is no doubt that the cool spring has been a serious setback to most of the players, and there is certain to be a difference in the general playing of all the major league teams after the weather gets settled.

BOSTON BRAVES IN LEAD BY TRIMMING PHILLIES

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Boston, Mass., May 3.—Boston defeated Philadelphia, 4 to 2, and jumped into first place through the defeat sustained by Chicago and Brooklyn. Reulbach pitched his first game for the Braves and was in trouble most of the time, but steadied in the pinch and gave good support. Hughes pitched the final inning for Boston, striking out Bancroft, Paskert and Cravath in a row. Bancroft was ordered off the field for objecting too strongly. Deane had the Braves guessing for seven innings but weakened in the eighth.

Next to the story about McGraw telling him that he had three deaf men and eighteen dumb ones on the Giants, Josh Devore delights in telling the one about catcher Jack Toft. After being released by Toronto, Toft was appointed an umpire in the Eastern league and his first assignment happened to be in the Canadian city, where he had formerly played. Taking the megaphone to announce the batteries, Toft shouted "McGraw and Stange for Newark; Rudolph and McInley for us!"

DON'T overlook this matter of power. It is important. You want an automobile that will carry you through mud, sand and snow, and do it easily. You want a car that will climb hills, that will get away quickly without laboring and straining its every part

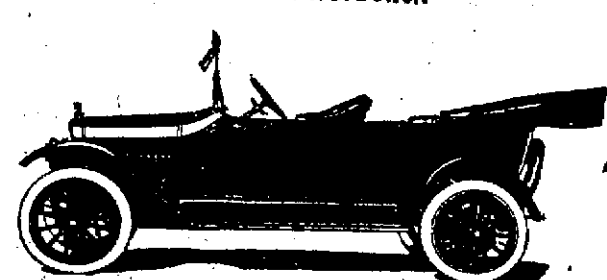

Not all cars can do these things, but you know that the Maxwell can because you have the proof.

When the Maxwell stock touring car set the World's Motor Non-Stop Mileage Record a few weeks ago, it encountered all sorts of unfavorable conditions—rain, mud and hills, over country and city roads—yet it covered 500 miles per day, day after day, for more than six weeks.

Power, plenty of power, unfailing power, is absolutely essential to such a wonderful performance as this.

Let us give you a booklet telling all the details of this record breaking Maxwell car. And let us tell you about our partial payment plan, by means of which you can make a cash deposit and pay the balance while you use the car. Give us the opportunity and we'll prove our case.

OBREGON'S BRIDE SENDS MESSAGE TO AMERICAN WOMEN

Mexican Women Are Striving For An Ideal Which Will Form A Free Sisterhood of Western Continent.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
El Paso, Texas, May 3.—"Tell the women of the United States that the women of Mexico have an ideal of free womanhood toward which they are striving. The road may be long and weary, but we will achieve our dream at last. With them we shall eventually form a free sisterhood of the western continent. Keep a stout heart. Our hopes will soon be realized."
That is the message of Senora Maria Tapis Obregon, bride of Carranza's war minister, to the women of the United States. She made this statement during the visit of General Obregon to the border to confer with General Scott and other American officials.

Senora Obregon is a singularly beautiful woman. Her face is of a wholesome color. Her eyes are perfectly white with the clearness of perfect health. In strong sunshine no flaw appears in it.

Her hair is as black as night. It is piled on her head in great shining masses. One fancies if by some fortunate accident it should break from its hairpin moorings it would fall to her ankles.

Her mouth is not a Cupid's bow. It is firmness, decision and strength of character. It is a mouth that might very well be associated with the character of a soldier's wife.

Her eyes are Mexico. Look into them and you hear tinkling guitars on moonlight nights. You see men in serapes and women in black mantillas kneeling at twilight mass. You glimpse a senorita leaning from a latticed balcony to drop a rose to her cavalier strumming a mandolin in the fragrant shadows beneath.

Her eyes are all the beauty of all the world. They are all the romance of the tropics.

"Do you believe in suffrage for Mexican women?" Senora Obregon was asked.

"No," was the prompt answer. "I do not disbelieve in it for American women, but I hardly think Mexican women are ready for it. Mexican women have their own problems. Suffrage is not yet one of them. Perhaps some day we may want the vote. I cannot imagine our gentle Spanish women fighting for the ballot as the Anglo-Saxon women do. It is contrary to their nature. They are gently bred and nurtured. However, one never can tell what the turn of the wheel will bring. Our Mexican women have plenty of fire and spirit. Some day they, too, may fight for equality with men."

The Mexican woman's problems. "What are the present problems of Mexican women?"

"To make their homes beautiful and attractive, to make their husbands happy, to rear their children to be fine men and women."

"Is not that the duty of women everywhere?"

"Perhaps, but it is peculiarly the problem of women of the Spanish races. They are raised with such a vastly different point of view regarding man than that of the women of the races of northern climes. Men are to them superior creatures. This is Spanish tradition. Its shackles bind us closely. Whether men are our superiors or not, they are at least stronger. Their position in the social scale is that of our protectors. They make the home for us. We beautify it."

"You believe in the home woman in contradistinction to the woman who takes part in public affairs?"

"Yes. Both. I suppose, have their places in the world. But to me, bred as I have been in Latin tradition, the home appeals as the more attractive. Of course, attractiveness is not all in life. But the home woman seems to me the more womanly woman, the one who approaches more nearly the world's ideal of a woman, the one who fits more harmoniously into a woman's natural sphere."

NOTED RUSSIAN ART COLLECTION WILL BE SOLD IN NEW YORK

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
New York, May 3.—A collection of old masters that once belonged to Prince Golinicheff-Koutousoff, personal secretary to the Dowager Empress Marie Feodorovna, Winter Palace, Petrograd, is to be sold at the Plaza here today. The collection is valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Nicolas Riabouchinsky of Moscow, a wealthy man, bought the collection of Prince Golinicheff-Koutousoff. Mr. Riabouchinsky is in New York in the service of his country in matters connected with the purchase of war supplies.

He has discovered that in this land of Bethlehem, United States, Crucible and other "war brides" works of art sell at much higher prices than they do on the continent. That is why the famous Golinicheff-Koutousoff collection of paintings will be placed on sale.

The Ermitage, Petrograd, is one of the great public collections of the world. Mr. Riabouchinsky's collection is catalogued as containing old masters "of the northern and southern schools," that is, paintings by masters of the low countries and Germany, and by those of France and Italy. The Fleming Hugo van der Goes, is represented in the catalogue by an altar panel, "Flight into Egypt," and there is another panel by the Flemish artist Gerard van der Meere. There are more than 600 items in the collection. Several Van Dicks are included.

Need For Dyes Is Imperative In This Country At Present Time.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
"A virtually forgotten industry is being revived with frantic haste as a result of the discontinuance of Germany's world commerce in aniline or coal-tar dyes," according to a bulletin issued today by the National Geographic Society from its headquarters in Washington.

The United States, like many other countries, is looking longingly once more to Avignon's madder root for its "Turkey-red," to India's indigo for its blues, to Mexico's cochineal for its scarlets, to Central America's logwood for its reds and browns, and to our own oak forests for their quercitron yellow, and—no, not to the peculiar Mediterranean seashell for its purple, for the manufacture of the Tyrian shade by the so-called Tyrian purple is one of the so-called lost arts.

"But these ancient vegetable dyes, some of which were in use when the mummy cloths were being made for the pyramids, are being replaced by the synthetic dyes which during the six years since they were accidentally discovered, have revolutionized the art of coloring to our shoes, our houses, our hats, and our book-bindings. In fact, aniline dyes furnish almost all of the modern dyes for which man is responsible."

It was in 1856 that a young English chemist, while trying to produce artificial guanine, distilled from coal tar a substance which had a beautiful mauve tint. This was the first of the aniline dyes, dyes which have now been produced in nearly a thousand commercial shades, 400 of which are widely used. This young chemist, William Henry Perkin, secured capital from his father and began the manufacture of dyes, as a result of which he was knighted and amassed a fortune.

His discovery immediately attracted the attention of German manufacturers who, aided by far-sighted bankers, employed university chemists, and established dye plants on the Rhine and Main rivers, inaugurating the synthetic dye industry of Germany, a phenomenal success. At the outbreak of the present great war twenty-one manufacturing establishments, most of them within an area of 130 square miles, in a part of the world monopoly of the aniline dye trade.

"It is not a coincidence that twelve of Germany's biggest dye factories are located at Essen, adjacent to the leading munition plants of the Teutonic empire. The same coal which produces dyestuffs also furnishes the essential ingredients of the high explosives used in the shells of the 16-inch guns which battered down the forts of Liege and which fill the head of the deadly submarine torpedo."

"Up to the time of Perkin's epoch making discovery, coal tar was the despised by-product when coal was burned to produce coke and illuminating gas. Today the once rejected third product has become, as it were, the keystone in the manufacture not only of dyestuffs and high explosives but of many perfumes, photograph developers and innumerable medicinal compounds known as coal-tar preparations."

At the outbreak of the world war the United States was importing annually from Germany about $15,000,000 worth of aniline dyes. The discontinuance of these dye shipments has had an effect upon our industries out of all proportion to the actual value of the imports, for the manufacturing establishments in this country which used these dyes employ more than 2,000,000 workers and many of the factories have been forced to run on half time or even less.

"The increase in the prices of some of the dyes can only be compared with the astonishing increase in the price of shares in some of the 'war bride' stocks. For instance, patent blues have registered an advance from 40 cents to $24 a pound. Other dyes which formerly sold for 25 cents a gallon now bring $12."

"Since 1885 the United States has produced only about 200,000 lbs. of dyes needed in domestic manufactures."

Not Satisfactory.
Margaret was an unusually naughty little girl. One day when she had been more than ordinarily obstreperous her father said to her: "Why don't you try being good, Margaret, and see how it would go?" Margaret stopped crying to reply: "I did try it once, papa, and I didn't get any satisfaction out of it."

PARRAL IN HEART OF RICH GOLD REGION

Mexican City Touched By American Expedition Famous For Mines

Since Days of Spanish Conquerors.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Washington, D. C., May 3.—Parral, Mexico, which recently was the scene of tragic happenings, is connected with the arrival there of General Pershing's punitive expeditionary forces, is in the heart of the fabulously rich gold and silver mines district of the southern republic, mines which were among the first discovered by the Spanish conquerors and which began pouring their stream of wealth into the coffers of the monarchs of Aragon and Castile as early as 1547. This town, which has a population of less than 20,000, has been the center of Francisco Villa's operations for several years. Its historical and commercial importance are set forth concisely in a bulletin issued today by the National Geographic Society, whose headquarters is in Washington, which says:

"Situated on the banks of the semi-permanent Parral river, at the foot of the Sierra de la Cruz, Parral's whole history centers below ground, in the marble of the mines of the Colorado (red vein) which runs from north to south through the Parral mining district, including Minas Nuevas and Santa Barbara."

"As early as 1600, before the first permanent English settlement in the United States, there were seven thousand miners employed in this district, bringing from the depths of the earth the yellow metal destined to sustain in splendor, for a time, the opulent court of the then most powerful monarchy in Europe. From that day up to the present Parral has continued to enrich the world from its seemingly inexhaustible store of gold and silver, the only interruption having been caused by a rebellion of the oppressed natives who on one occasion flooded all the mines of the district and then deserted the city by thousands."

"The richness of the ore in this section is shown by the fact that American mining companies find it profitable today to smelt the tailings or refuse of the old Spanish works."

"One of the most interesting incidents in the early history of Parral centers about a time-stained church known as La Iglesia de la Virgen del Alamo, the favorite place of worship among the Indians of the district. In 1690 a devout native began the construction of the church, paying his helpers with inrocks of pure gold which he produced mysteriously once a week. During the structure the pious Indian baffled the spies commissioned to discover the source of his treasure."

GREEN COUNTY LAND

Real Estate Estimated to be Valued at $58,000,000, According to Register of Deeds.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Monroe, Wis., May 3.—According to official figures secured by Register of Deeds Frank E. Corson, of this city, the total wealth of Green county is given as $58,219,927.33. The figures are astonishing when it is considered that at this time of the year the "miners are buying and selling property most actively and that there was hand in the banks of the county $25,000,000. The amount of $7,133,943.92 is shown that $50,248,149 is the assessed valuation of real estate and personal property is being assessed at $42,771,873. The county's population in round numbers is 24,000. This will give an average wealth of $2,425.83 for each resident of the county.

Without doubt, Green county is the wealthiest county in the state of Wisconsin per capita and it is stated as therapeutically that a recent government publication declares Green county to be the wealthiest county in the United States in proportion to population.

FOWLER HANGS SELF IN THE COUNTY JAIL

MAN ACCUSED OF WALVIG MURDER ENDS LIFE AFTER PLEADING NOT GUILTY

Archie Fowler, self confessed murderer of Rudolph Walvig, the Beloit Mechanic, hung himself in his cell this noon and was dead when found by officers who took him his dinner at ten minutes to one.

Fowler was taken to the Beloit municipal court this morning by Deputy Sheriff Wogan and entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of murder and returned to Jnesville by the Interurban, arriving here at eleven. He was taken immediately to his cell and locked in, asking to be let alone. No word was heard from his cell by the officers and it was not until ten minutes to one that he was visited.

In the meantime he made a rope of his blanket and was found hanging to the top of the cell apparently dead for some time.

As far as can be ascertained he left no confession or any further writing on the case.

Detective Powe, who has been working on the case since Fowler was first suspected and who was locked in his cell for several days with him, was the man to discover the body and when discovered it was not yet cold. The rope was made from the woolen blanket which had been torn into strips and attached to the iron ceiling of the cell. Fowler then apparently jumped off from some shelf and swung dangling between the floor and ceiling.

His cell was in the upper tier and no one else was locked in the same room so that no alarm was made. He had been carefully searched for any weapons before being locked up and it was not thought possible he would do away with himself.

In Fowler's pocket was a letter to his sweetheart, Evelyn Irish of Beloit, in which he reproached her for having turned upon him although this young lady has been most steadfast.

There was also a letter to his brother in Beloit, asking him to obtain a revolver for him and have it at the south side of the jail at a certain time so he could draw it up and into the jail by a rope he would make. There was also a card to his mother asking her to come and visit him as he faced a most serious charge and could never live in state prison. These letters have been turned over to District Attorney Dunwiddie.

As soon as the body was found by Powe he called Deputy Sheriff Wogan and while Fowler's body was not yet cold and there was apparently some heart action, he was dead when Dr. Charles Sutherland who was hastily summoned, arrived.

The body was taken in charge of by Coroner Frank Ryan and removed to the Ryan undertaking rooms. Whether an inquest will be held or not is not decided.

TUG BOATS LIE IDLE IN NEW YORK HARBOR

Steamship Piers Are Piled High With Freight Which Cannot Be Moved Because of Strike.

New York, May 3.—Steamship piers are piled high with freight which cannot be moved, and fifty steamers lie at anchor in the harbor today unable to reach the wharves because of the strike of marine engineers, which has tied up 450 tug boats composing about 75% of the craft engaged in such service in New York harbor.

The only relief on this third day of the tie-up, was afforded by the action by some of the railroad companies in according to the demands of the engineers.

Y. M. C. A. TO HOLD TRIENNIAL MEETING AT CLEVELAND, OHIO

Numerous Matters of Importance to Association Will Be Considered at Convention May 12 to 16.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Cleveland, Ohio, May 3.—A number of important matters affecting the administration of the Young Men's Christian Association of North America will come before the international triennial convention—the legislative body of the brotherhood—which will be held in Cleveland beginning May 12, continuing through the 16th. It is said that the meeting will be one of the most significant of any of the previous triennial meetings that have been held. There will be a thousand guests at the convention, in addition to the two thousand accredited delegates and many hundreds of "corresponding members." The associations eligible to representation include 700 city associations, 250 railroad, 800 college, and 600 county or rural associations, as well as the army and navy branches.

The convention marks its fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the international committee, and the association in leadership of the committee from Richard C. Morse, who for twenty-six years was its general secretary, and who is now retiring, to John R. Mott, recently-elected general secretary.

One of the questions to be voted upon is a proposal to increase the element of democracy in the supervision of the brotherhood. On an initiative resolution which has been approved by an overwhelming vote of the directors of the association, it is proposed that the lay delegates will hereafter have a much larger proportion of the convention devoted to discussions from the floor, with fewer addresses from the platform. What the large assembly of the convention will be in Gray's Army, there will be this year a greater number of smaller sectional meetings, which will give increased opportunity for discussion and legislation. The hall of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and various Cleveland churches will be the places of holding these sectional meetings. The Cleveland association is also dismantling the second floor of its large building to accommodate an exhibit of Y. M. C. A. buildings, equipment and efficiency.

The importance of the association's work with the armies in Europe will have special attention. Hundreds of trained secretaries who have been sent over from the United States and Canada, and who have been at work since the outbreak of the war, will report on both sides of the lines, will report on this phase of Y. M. C. A. work.

The question of the supervision of the associations in foreign lands, such as China, Korea, Japan, India, Brazil, Chile, Uruguay, and other countries, will also be considered. A special commission has been studying for three years the tremendous expansion of the association's work abroad, and the findings of this commission will be presented by L. Wilbur Messer, of Chicago, as chairman.

The convention will be called upon to decide whether or not to capitalize a retirement fund for secretaries who have practically completed their lifetime of service. This commission is headed by F. W. Ayer of Philadelphia. He will probably ask that the fund be capitalized with $1,000,000, perhaps more. It depends upon the actuarial studies which he is now having made. This retirement fund will parallel that provided by many of the denominational churches for clergymen, by the Carnegie fund for professors in colleges, and such retirement funds as the Pennsylvania railroad, as well as government services. So far the Y. M. C. A. has had nothing of this kind.

Another important discussion is to be the extent to which the association should enter the educational field. The various schools, it has inaugurated summer institutes for the training of its younger secretaries and has bought properties in Estes Park, near Colorado Springs; Lake Geneva, in Germany; Silver Lake, in North Carolina, where it assembles for training purposes its less experienced secretarial candidates and officers for systematic education and training during the summer period.

In addition to this the association has established institutions of college grade at Chicago and Springfield, Mass., which have a very much larger attendance, for example, than any other theological school of this country and where not only secretaries but physical directors and all sorts of association specialists are trained. The leader of the opposition in matters of utilizing the regular professional colleges of the country or shall assist its own training agencies will be reported upon by a commission of which W. M. Birks of Montreal is chairman.

A remarkable group of men prominent in civic and religious life will address the convention. These will include General Leonard Wood, Dr. John H. Jowett of New York City, Bishop William F. McWill of Chicago; John D. Rockefeller, Jr.; President Garfield of Williams College; Raymond Robins, a noted social worker of Chicago; Hon. N. W. Rowell, leader of the opposition in Ontario; President Mackenzie of Hartford Theological Seminary; Secretary Franklin D. Roosevelt; Robert E. Speer, and many others.

HOME FOR WOMEN IS NOT A PROBABILITY

Big Institution at Taycheedah to Cost $255,000.—May Not Be Built.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., May 3.—The building of an industrial home for women at Taycheedah, for which the legislature of 1913 appropriated $255,000, is to be held up for the present at least, and it may be that the entire plan will be abandoned.

A meeting of the state board of control, which has charge of the project, with Prof. John G. Mack, chief of the department of engineering, in the office of Governor E. L. Philipp, it was decided that before any further action is taken a complete survey is to be made by the state engineer to determine what will be the cost to put the grounds in suitable condition. There is a drainage proposition involving surface water that must be overcome before the building plans may be pursued. The location is in a marshy region and there is serious objection to placing an institution of such importance and proposed dimensions in it.

Serious Question Raised.

That the whole plan may be abandoned, for the present at least, after the engineers have made their report, is more than likely. There has been serious question raised as to the wisdom of so large an institution for the purpose outlined by the legislature and it may be that when the legislature meets in 1917 the act of 1913 will be repealed.

Some work has been done on the site already, chiefly in the way of making foundations, convicts from the state prison at Waupun doing most of the labor. The site comprises 234 acres.

To House Three Classes.

The home is intended for women only, three classes being prescribed in the legislative act. Those convicted for the first time of a felony; those convicted of a misdemeanor, punishable by imprisonment in county jail or house of correction for one year or more; those convicted of vagrancy, habitual drunkenness, the drug habit or prostitution. In fact it was intended by the legislature that the institution would be a home and reformatory for fallen women.

The board of control re-elected its present officers for the ensuing year, consisting of ex-Governor James O. Davidson of Madison, president; George Harris of Waukesha, vice-president; M. C. Tappan of Madison, secretary, and Miss Catherine R. Williams of Milwaukee, recording secretary.

WOMEN BIG FACTOR FOR PREPAREDNESS

Five Hundred Women Are Receiving Lessons in Military Camp at Chevy Chase.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, May 3.—With the national service school for women in full swing at Chevy Chase, near Washington, the woman in khaki has become a factor in the preparedness campaign. Some 500 of her from all over the country are spending two weeks learning how to be most useful in the hour of national need. After these another 500, and so on until through similar encampments run by the Red Cross and the war department help. The women will live until May 15 in camp uniform of khaki coat and skirt with flannel shirt to match, hosiery, shoes, and campaign hats.

Eating at a common table and sleeping on army cots, they rise at reveille at 6:30 and must be in bed at taps at 9:30. They are putting in most of the intervening time learning how to make surgical dressings, preparing food for the sick, the first principles of camp sanitation, "first aid" dietetics, the mysteries of scientific bed making, and, if they choose, heliographing, wig-wagging, signaling, and both plain and wireless telegraphy.

K. P. Meeting: There will be a meeting of the K. P. lodge tonight at Castle Hall.

PROGRESSIVES MAY HOLD CONVENTION

SUCCESS TO THE TWO CONSERVATIVE GATHERINGS LEADS TO PLAN OF SIMILAR ACTION.

TALK OF ALTERNATES

Republican State Central Committee to Name Alternates to Delegates Elected to National G. O. P. Convention.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, May 3.—Editor Goodland of Racine is very much in earnest about his plan to hold a state convention of ultra progressive republicans at some date to be determined in the future at which all the members of the republican party who support Senator La Follette, high tax and low ultra progressive ideals will be welcome. This convention is to formally endorse Robert M. La Follette at their choice for United States senator, to decide on a state ticket and transact other business.

Mr. Goodland claims that he has taken the matter up with leading progressives throughout the state and they are in hearty accord with his views on the subject and the success of such a gathering is assured. Of course there is one decided hitch thus far and that is, will La Follette approve? He does it will be a reputation of his former ideals that conventions were useless and if he does not the convention would fail by its own weight.

The success of the two conservative republican conventions, held this winter, the first January 27th at Madison, on call of the republican state central committee, at which some sixteen hundred delegates were present and the delegates to the national convention as well as a declaration of republican principles was made, and the second on April 26th, when a candidate for United States senator in the district of Wisconsin was selected, has evidently stirred up the progressives to a similar action.

While great hue and cry is made over the idea of casting for La Follette in the presidential election, the fact remains that he won the majority of the delegation merely through a deal played in Milwaukee between the socialists and progressives. If he had not had the ten thousand Milwaukee socialist votes in Milwaukee county in return for the votes of the La Follette progressives for roan, the socialist candidate for mayor, he would have lost the fourth and final congressional district, probably one or two of his three delegates at large and lost control of the state delegation. This is realized by the progressives, although they will not admit it publicly and in consequence they want to hold a state-wide conference to try and bolster up their cause by similar methods to the conservatives.

If the progressives had the troubling of the presidential election, the fact remains that the republican state central committee take upon the question of selection of alternates to the national convention, the conservatives control this committee and also have the right under the law to name the alternates. If they see fit to name conservative republicans they could do so despite the fact that the progressives control the particular district. This is troubling the progressives as they see a possibility of losing control of the delegation.

This could easily be accomplished if one or two of the conservative delegates were unable to attend the convention and their alternates, supposing they were conservatives, did attend and took their seats. This would mean a failure of the progressives to be able to present to the national convention a candidate for the presidency, failure to secure places on the various important committees and also failure to obtain the coveted delegates to the national committee now held by Mr. Rogers, La Follette's law partner.

The state central committee has not as yet indicated what their action on this question will be and the progressives consequently are much worried. It is possible, however, that the various committeemen will be convulsed and the selections made, either of the conservative candidates in the progressive districts or some persons chosen by the committeemen from that certain district. Until this is settled the outcome is a question.

TROUBLE IN GALWAY HALTED BY SHELLS FROM NAVAL CRAFT

Twelve Hundred Rebels Attack Market Place in Latest Uprising—Maxwell Reports Dublin Rebellion Crushed.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Dublin, via London, May 3.—The situation in Galway resulting from the Irish revolt, has been serious, according to advices just received. On Tuesday, April 25, 1,200 rebels approaching from Cranmore market, were within three miles of Galway, when a naval vessel shelled them from Galway Bay, compelling them to retire.

All Dublin Rebels Surrender.

In an order of the day, thanking the troops engaged in suppression of the rebellion, Lieutenant Sir John Maxwell, the military commander says, "owing to the tireless efforts of the soldiers, all rebels in this city have now surrendered."

The order further says: "Especially wish to express my gratitude to the Irish regiment, which have so largely helped to crush the rising."

He is unable to refer in the present order, General Maxwell says, to the salt behavior of the men but he expresses his admiration for a small detachment which was attacked while conveying ammunition. After a splendid defense of three and a half days during which its leaders were struck down the detachment delivered the ammunition safely.

EDUCATOR TO TAKE MILITARY TRAINING

President Bryan of Indiana Will Enter Summer Camp for Training Citizen Soldiers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Indianapolis, May 3.—President William Lowe Bryan of Indiana University has announced that he will enter one of the three military training camps to be held at Fort Benjamin Harrison, near here, this summer. He said he has decided to do this as example to university students of the state. The Fort Harrison camps, which would be under supervision of United States army officers, will be open to citizens throughout the central west.

STURDY OLD CUTTER WILL BE SOLD AS "WAR BRIDE"

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

San Francisco, May 3.—After bucking the ice in most of the seven seas for thirty-five years, the coast guard cutter Thetis is cruising into this port to go into the governmental discard shed by public auction.

The European war saved the Thetis from the scrap heap. Steamship men all over the United States await her arrival here. They are to bid for her when the government auctioneer announces:

"One steamship, gentlemen."

During her service the Thetis has not been a liner and a lady. She started out as a Dundee whaler, a work that requires mainly what sailors call "guts."

The Thetis entered the navy in 1883, when, commanded by then Captain W. S. Schley, she went with two other ships to rescue Lieutenant A. W. Greeley, afterward Major General Greeley, from the Arctic ice. She served as a navy survey ship on one trip, carrying a load of reindeer from Siberia to Alaska.

The fact that she was condemned by the navy a dozen years ago did not interfere with her efficiency.

Coast guard men say they would have been lucky two years ago to get $3,000 for her. Now, they say, they expect her to bring $50,000. She is expected to pay for herself on her first trip.

FINAL DRAFT OF REPLY IS COMPLETED

ANSWER TO AMERICAN ULTIMATUM ON SUBMARINE WARFARE IS READY TO SEND.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WILL CONTAIN ORDERS

Copy of Definite Instructions to Be Issued to Submarine Commanders Will Be a Feature of German Note.

Berlin, wireless to the Associated Press, via Sayville, May 3.—The draft of the German reply to the American note has been finished.

The reply is subject to minor alterations, which may result from interchange of views between Berlin and general headquarters.

The attitude of Germany will be stated in clear and precise terms. The note will leave no room for doubt concerning the exact position assumed by Germany, which will communicate the definite nature of instructions that will be given to submarine commanders and other data on which Washington itself can judge the situation.

Under no circumstances is it permitted to make these statements, although the censorship on dispatches tending to reveal the tenor of the German reply is still effective. The date of delivery of the answer has not been fixed.

May Meet Demands.

Washington, May 3.—The announcement from Berlin that new and definite instructions are to be given to German submarine commanders is the first positive indication of how Germany will attempt to meet President Wilson's final demand that she declare and effect an abandonment of the present methods of submarine warfare.

Whether the new instructions will meet the terms of the last American note, and thus prevent a break in diplomatic relations, can only be determined by a close and careful examination.

President Remains Firm.

President Wilson is represented by those closest about him as unshaken in his determination that the issue is not negotiable, that a settlement cannot be delayed by discussion of side issues, such as the British blockade and retaliation measures. The controversy between the countries can proceed further in diplomacy only if Germany effectually stops.

Germany effectually stops the destruction of ships without warning and takes measures to bring her submarine operations otherwise within the confines of international law.

With a declaration that such orders have been given, and evidence that the issue cannot be further delayed and complicated by related issues, which is to take the discussion ahead.

Until this morning, Germany's delay in making reply and the absence of any definite report from Ambassador Gerard have lead American officials to fear the Berlin foreign office was planning to send an answer which the United States could not consider other than inconclusive and therefore unsatisfactory.

The news that new instructions to submarine commanders will be announced, serves to encourage hope of a favorable outcome of long dispute, but all decision is being reserved until the new German instructions can be analyzed and thoroughly considered. Until President Wilson has had opportunity to consider it full and finally, no one can say whether it will meet the requirements of the United States or postpone or avert a diplomatic break.

THE HOUSEKEEPER'S STORY

Here are the exact words of an experienced housekeeper—"The goods I buy continually are those that are advertised widely and attractively in my favorite newspaper. I want no better guarantee than continued advertising." When I see goods persistently advertised in a reliable newspaper I am certain that they are reliable—for I know that a firm is not going to spend large sums advertising a product unless that product has merit.

This statement proves that it is a mighty poor policy for merchants to attempt to sell to good customers any unknown, non-advertised goods which are guaranteed neither by the merchant nor by the manufacturer.

THE RATE FOR ADVERTISEMENTS in these classified columns is one cent per word per insertion. Nothing less than 25c accepted. Cash discount 25 per cent if paid at time order is given. Charge accounts 1 cent per word.

BAD PITCHING MARKS SLUMP AMONG MAJORS

White Sox Tounce St. Louis White
Cubs Lose at Chicago to St. Louis National.

The major league baseball campaigns are not quite two weeks old, but it already has become apparent that there is an excellent chance for "dark horses" to win the major league pennant races. This is particularly true of the American league, as the Phillies are setting such a dizzy pace in the National league that it will be some time before a "dark horse" can show enough to warrant serious consideration.

The American league race has been featured, or perhaps it would be better to say mired, by the miserable pitching of supposedly strong staffs. The percentage table does not indicate it, but the only teams which have had consistent pitching to date are the world's champions' staff did not look very good in its games in the east.

Worse in National.
In the National league the hurling has been even worse. The Phils pitchers are all in wonderful shape and there has not been one poorly pitched game to date, the lone defeat being a 2 to 1, ten inning battle with the Giants. There have been several brilliant individual exhibitions of hurling in the National league, but these invariably have been followed by weird pitching in the next start. The averages show that the National league hurling is the poorest and most erratic in years, and therein lies the chance for the "dark horse" if the Phils should slip.

Sox Handicapped.
With a pitching staff like Moran has there apparently is little chance for a long slump, but in the American league there is no pitching staff so well fortified with good reserve strength unless it is the Browns. Boston's grand staff has shown good form, but in reserve strength the Red Sox are not so well equipped as several other teams. With the team playing poor ball and feeling the loss of Tris Speaker so keenly, the Red Sox probably would be eliminated from the race early if Ruth, Shore, Leonard or Foster should be injured or laid up with a lame arm for several days. Detroit and Chicago, the two most powerful teams in the league, if not in the entire country, barring pitching, still appear to be handicapped by the erratic and inferior work of the hurlers. Both are lucky to be so well up in the race, but they will not stay there if they strike a batting slump before the pitchers have rounded into form.

Fall to Hit.
Pitcher Doak allowed only two hits on Tuesday, and St. Louis checked Chicago's upward streak by winning 3 to 0. Doak walked four men, but in the pinches pitched invincible ball. The Browns bunched a single and a triple in the first inning for the first run, and scored two more in the third on a base on balls to Easler, a sacrifice, Betzel's triple and Doan's wild throw to Saier of Long's grounder. The Cubs also lost the services of Bill Fischer, the catcher, who had his third finger broken by a foul tip. He will be out of the game a couple of weeks. President Weegman announced, however, that he had signed Bill Allen, the former Pittsburgh Federal catcher, and he went East with the club Tuesday night.

Won in Ninth.
St. Louis, Mo., May 3.—With the score 4 to 3 in St. Louis' favor, Terry, pinch hitting for Danforth, with two out and two men on bases in the ninth, doubled, driving in two runs, which gave Chicago its third straight victory over St. Louis here on Tuesday, 5 to 4. It was the local's seventh consecutive defeat.

Although Chicago used five pitchers the home team could get but three hits, a single and two doubles, all, however, productive of runs. Faber, who started for Chicago, was wild, and after passing three in a row in the third, and a sacrifice fly and a single had netted the locals two runs, he was taken out for Cicotte.

Weigman twirled the last two innings for St. Louis and in the ninth was hit for two doubles and two singles. RALPH MULFORD SETS NEW AUTO RECORDS AT NEW YORK
New York, May 3.—Ralph Mulford broke all automobile records of from one to twenty-four hours Tuesday at Sheepshead Bay speedway when he covered 1,810 and a fraction miles in twenty-four hours. The best previous distance for a twenty-four hour run was made by S. F. Edge, nearly nine miles ago, in Brooklands track in England. Edge covered 1,552 miles in twenty-four hours. The trial on Tuesday was sanctioned by the American Automobile association and timed by its representative.

MENTION JAMESVILLE IN BASEBALL LEAGUE

M. B. Parsons, Former Secretary of W. I. League, Advocates Six-Team Semi-Pro Organization.

M. B. Parsons, former secretary of the W. I. league, is working to organize a six-team semi-professional league among the cities of southern Wisconsin. Jamesville, Beloit, Madison, Edgerton, Monroe, Baraboo, Sun Prairie and Portage are some of the cities which are mentioned and it is understood that baseball fans in several of them are giving the proposition their serious consideration.

Only Sunday baseball will be played according to Mr. Parsons' plans. Experience in the past have been that only Sunday games can receive anything like real support in cities of the size of those which may enter teams. More players can be induced to join the clubs if games are confined to Sundays and holidays and the result will be a better class of baseball.

As soon as the organization is definitely assured, a meeting will be held at which a schedule and a draft of playing rules will be drawn up. It is hoped that the league may be in shape to start games by the middle of June.

CENTRAL ASSOCIATION SEASON OPENS WITH 4 GAMES TODAY.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Cedar Rapids, Ia., May 3.—With eight strong teams in the Central Association and better prospects than last year for a money making season, the 1916 play was begun today with four games, as follows:
At Cedar Rapids with Waterloo.
At Clinton with Marshalltown.
At Keosauqua with Mason City.
At Burlington with Fort Dodge.
Each team will play sixty-five home games, nine Sunday games and one or two holiday games.

The death of the Federals has aided the smaller association and leagues, the Central as much as any, by making available a better class of players and by stabilizing the sport. President Justice thinks all the clubs this year will pave the way for many profitable seasons.

Tom Tinker believes that when the hot weather comes that his team will show material improvement. That is probably true of all teams. There is no doubt that the cool spring has been a serious setback to most of the players, and there is certain to be a difference in the general playing of all major league teams after the weather gets settled.

CRESCENTS TIP OFF HIGH SCORE IN MATCH GAME WITH BAUMANN'S COLTS

Baumann's Colts, shipped last night at the Millers' express car to the Crescents were up in good form. The Colts lost the match by a margin of over three hundred pins. The winning fall will enter the Madison tourney tomorrow and roll in the different events. Last night the Crescents were a little off, not the whole team but a couple of members. McDonald had very poor luck and he could not hit the head pin. Some say the reason was on account of his shoe string being untied. They expect to come home from Madison with some prize money. Following are the scores:

BOSTON BRAVES IN LEAD BY TRIMMING PHILLIES

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Boston, May 3.—Boston defeated Philadelphia, 4 to 2, and jumped into first place through the defeats sustained by Chicago and Brooklyn. Reubach pitched his first game for the Braves and was in trouble most of the time, but steadied in the pinches and was given good support. Hughes pitched the final inning for Boston, striking out Easler, Paskert, and Cravath in a row. Easler was ordered off the field for objecting too strongly. The marce had the Braves guessing for seven innings but weakened in the eighth.

Next to the story about McGraw telling him that he had three deaf men and eighteen dumbies on the Giants, Josh Devereaux is telling the one about catcher Jack Toft. After being released by Toronto, Toft was appointed an umpire in the then Eastern league and his first assignment happened to be in the Canadian city, where he had formerly played. Taking the telephone to announce the batteries, Toft shouted: "Mueller and Stange for Newark; Rudolph and McGinley for us!"

United States Tread Chain Tires

Added Mileage in these Two Rugged Chains

By the time the two rugged anti-skid chains of rubber running round the tread are finally worn down, you have had your mileage in full and liberal measure.

Then you have the equivalent of a good, plain tread tire still to wear out—for your added mileage.

That is why 'Chain' Treads give the low mileage cost for which they are famous.

Besides—'Chain' Treads are the most efficient, moderate-priced anti-skids in the world.

The 'Chain' is one of the five United States 'Balanced' Tires which meet every motoring condition of price and use.

Ask the nearest United States Tire Dealer for your copy of the booklet, "Judging Tires," which tells how to choose the particular tire to suit your needs.

Power

DON'T overlook this matter of power. It is important. You want an automobile that will carry you through mud, sand and snow, and do it easily. You want a car that will climb hills, that will get away quickly without laboring and straining its every part

Not all cars can do these things; but you know that the Maxwell can because you have the proof.

When the Maxwell stock touring car set the World's Motor Non-Stop Mileage Record a few weeks ago, it encountered all sorts of unfavorable conditions—rain, mud and hills, over country and city roads—yet it covered 500 miles per day, day after day, for more than six weeks.

Power, plenty of power, unflinching power, is absolutely essential to such a wonderful performance as this.

Let us give you a booklet telling all the details of this record breaking Maxwell car. And let us tell you about our partial payment plan, by means of which you can make a cash deposit and pay the balance while you use the car. Give us the opportunity and we'll prove our case.
